Good news travels fast: The citizens of Kragujevac are aware of this fact that is why they rarely boast of themselves. Kragujevac is respected for its successes, not only from the past, but from the present as well. It has historic significance as the first capital of a just liberated Principality of Serbia. It bears an industrial tradition of two centuries and an openness to adopt new ideas and businesses. Kragujevac is the home of experienced and industrious workers, educated young people, rich cultural heritage, and optimism, above all.

Today, Kragujevac is a leader of economic development of Šumadija and a community of successful people. Here, ancestors left a heritage of city planning with an eye toward the future, reflected in today’s strength of this city. Kragujevac supports and is the central hub of industrial and economic development, administrative, educational, health, cultural and sporting activities in Šumadija.
